

Lewis & Clark Summer Expedition

Lewis & Clark not only needed to collect plant and animal specimens and get to know American Indian nations, they also had to map the newest addition to the United States, the Louisiana Territory. As we work our way through Montana we'll do some mapping, too. Start by looking at some of the Lewis & Clark maps at <http://www.pbs.org/lewisandclark> Then choose:

- A. Learn a few map skills. Choose a worksheet or activity from our Lewis & Clark Pinterest board.
- B. Design a map of your own. It might be your favorite hiking route, your neighborhood, or an area river.

Once you've completed the activities, write about maps and map making in your Lewis & Clark journal.
